

Back to Business

If going back to work after having a baby seemed difficult before, it's hard to imagine having to find your footing back in your professional job during a global pandemic. This online programme supports female employees to return from maternity leave with renewed confidence as well as lots of practical tools to ensure a successful return.

Returners programmes have noted the following key benefits:

- Increased retention rates of high caliber women
- Increase in performance of employees pre and post maternity
- Increased career progression in years 1-5 after returning to work
